ReBloom

Drawing inspiration from the vital role of native plants in supporting pollinators, ReBloom is more than just a collection of carpets—it's a celebration of natural ecosystems. Five native plants, carefully selected from diverse regions across North America, serve as the foundation for our designs. Each pattern and hue pays homage to the resilience and beauty of these essential botanical treasures.

At the heart of ReBloom lies a symbol of unity and interconnectedness—the honeycomb motif. Much like the intricate network of cells within a hive, it symbolizes the delicate balance that sustains life on our planet. Every hexagon serves as a poignant reminder of our interconnectedness, illustrating how every action, no matter how small, has a profound impact on the world around us. Just as a flutter of a butterfly's wing can set off a chain of events, so too can our choices echo throughout the ecosystem.

Dale Wayne

Meet the Artist

“Whatever time is invested [in art] comes back in renewed life. I am grateful for my studio space where I can create, regardless of my mobility.”

Dale Wayne grew up in a military family and lived in a variety of locations, with a particular affinity for her time in France. The landscapes she creates in alcohol inks bring back memories of gathering lavender in the fields with her family. Dale worked as an art teacher until she developed a disability, losing much of her mobility. Dale engages in art as a way to reconnect with memories and travel through her imagination, letting herself get lost in the process.

Dale participates in the ArtLifting platform, which champions artists of diverse backgrounds who are underrepresented in the contemporary art market. As part of Mohawk Group’s Better Together Initiative, our partnership with ArtLifting enables you to incorporate patterns inspired by artists like Dale Wayne, embedding a greater sense of belonging in your environment.

Each time you specify from collections in our ArtLifting partnership, we’re donating to Susan G. Komen through our Specify for a Cure program. Join us in leveraging the power of art to bring people together and uplift our communities.
