

INHERENT SPONTANEITY

PART I

Durkan's Inherent Spontaneity collection explores the intersection of design and play. Durkan's designers were encouraged to get out from behind their computers and explore via a variety of creative exercises to break open their inherent imagination. Designs and textures were created by exploring everything from identity and politics to travel and handicrafts. This creative research resulted in a unique collection of designs that throws the rules out the window and offers solutions for environments that are as interesting as their occupants.
